Executive Committee of Advisory Board (5 members)

President: Dr. Fred B. Johnston

Managing Director: Herral B. Ayres

“Annual” Conventions

1 st , Mobile, Alabama	December 10-11, 1915
3 rd , Tallahassee, Florida	May 18-19, 1917
San Antonio, Texas	November 1919
Gulfport Convention, Mobile, Alabama	February 1921
March 20-22, 1922
New Orleans, Louisiana	March 26-28, 1923

The first conference of the Old Spanish Trail Association was at Mobile, Alabama on December 10-11, 1915 to promote the construction of a southern transcontinental highway to connect New Orleans with the Florida East Coast. The Association was a group of community leaders from towns and cities along the route of the “Old Spanish Trail” (OST) from St. Augustine, Florida to New Orleans. Subsequent annual conferences were Pensacola 1916, Tallahassee 1917, Houston then San Antonio 1919, Gulfport then Orange 1921, and finally New Orleans 1922.

Influence on Highway Construction

The work on the eastern half of the highway began in 1917. The conference in July 1919 at Houston extended the highway westward across Texas and the adjoining states to the west to link five great centers of Spanish missionary activity: San Augustine, San Antonio, El Paso, Tucson and San Diego. At the request of the association the San Antonio members established a headquarters office at the Gunter Hotel (suite 109) and hired Herral Ayers as managing director. The next conference convened in San Antonio in November 1919, appointed councilors in every city and town along the route to advise travelers on conditions and accommodations.

In 1923 the association organized the OST Beautification Committee to provide architectural drawings of highways and bridge signage, county line markers made of native stone, and stone gateways to business and residential districts. From 1923 to 1931 the association published travelogs annually as construction of highway sections and bridges progressed. The association publicized the route to tourists and by August 1926 had distributed 83,000 maps and travel service booklets. By 1929 the highway was completed. A promotional motorcade in April 1929 traveled the route from San Diego to St. Augustine and a return motorcade in October 1929.

“The Texas portion of the road began at the southwestern Louisiana border at Orange, passed through Beaumont, Houston, and San Antonio, and ended at El Paso. It does not follow the route of the Old San Antonio Road, which was sometimes referred to as the “Old Spanish Trail,” which went from Bexar (now San Antonio) east to Nacogdoches and then north to what is now known as the Old Spanish Trail.” (Will Fossey, Handbook of Texas History)

“Fredericksburg Road has been one of San Antonio’s major corridors since the 1920s, when it became part of the Old Spanish Trail, a nearly 3,000-mile highway running from St. Augustine, Florida to San Diego, California.” (San Antonio Express-News, June 26, 2016:C2)

Tag lines used on association stationery developed over time demonstrating what the members thought would promote their route to potential motorists:

- “You will enjoy motoring over the Old Spanish Trail: The all-southern and all-season transcontinental route.” (1917)
- “Ocean to Ocean, All Season & All Southern, Old Spanish Trail” (1917-1918)
- “Florida to California – The Great Historic Highway” (1923)
- “Travel over the Old Spanish Trail, the Great Historic Highway across the Sunny South and through the Great Southwest” (1925)
- “Old Spanish Trial Southern Borderland Trunkline – Thru the Lands of America’s Ancient History Connecting Florida, Mexico, California” (1929)
- “The Old Spanish Trail – The Lands of Romance and Old History” (1929)

How It Ended

“Efforts are being made to rid the highways of the numerous meaningless road promotions and names substituting numbers only. The people persist in encouraging these promotions; travelers are confused and the public is misled. Eleven years of work to create and build the Old Spanish Trail and give it national prestige will be lost unless our people now cooperate actively to establish forever this historical name for this great highway.” (“Preservation of Old Spanish Trail Name,” OST HQ, June 10, 1926). The Old Spanish Trail after being reduced to a “number” is known to later generations as “US 90.”
