A NECESSARY PREFACE

Indexes are, for the most part, self-explanatory. Either the word/subject is there or it isn't. Sometimes, however, the topic may be in the index, but under a different word or name which is why in this index you will find "see also" for some entries. It's also helpful and important to know what general things have been included, and what has been excluded. Knowing this ahead of time can save a lot of fruitless searching. One also has to know the way of "reading" the index, and I will start with that. The entries are by dates of publication, rather than volume or issue. There are some years in which the Rattler staff decided to begin a new Volume at mid-year. It's much simpler to use the date, and in this case the citation is month/day/year (last two digits) and page number. If an article continues on another page, the second page is not indicated. It should be noted that at times the inside pages have the wrong date, usually from the previous issue. The date on the first page is the one that was used. If there is a photo related to the article, the reference is followed by a "p" in parentheses. At times there may be only a photo. An "a" in parentheses after a reference means that it is an article written by the individual

While there are a few exceptions, here is a list of things that are not found in this index:

- Ads (including those placed by ROTC)
- General articles on San Antonio, entertainment (e.g. movie reviews), or happenings at other universities or institutions, or on a national or local level.
- Editorials, Commentaries, and Letters to the Editor
- Photo polls which appeared in almost every issue; answers to the Question of the Week, or opinions
- Announcements of events; calendar of events, or "Campus Briefs" unless they are of an informative nature and not merely reminders, with the exception of dramatic or musical performances since this may be the only reference to them.
- Marianists, members of St. Mary's administration, faculty and staff who have appeared in the Rattler are listed in a separate index with that title.

A few comments on some things which are included:

- Sports: every issue of the Rattler has at least one page dedicated to individual sports. The index cites those articles which give an overall appreciation of the particular sport, or the team, the general outlook for the coming year or the final results of the year. Individual game results are not included. Team pictures are, whether they are group photos or individual photos. Anyone following the various references would have a kind of history of the sport. Other topics related to sports are found under Athletics.

- Activities in and for the community outside of St. Mary's were frequently organized by fraternities or sororities and can be found under the names of these groups. Likewise, the Service Learning Center has sponsored many volunteer activities which are listed under that title or others like "immersion experiences".

- Housing facilities may appear under "Dorms" or "Residence Halls", depending on the word used in the article. Many are also listed individually by name.

- All of the topics related to the Law School are found as subtitles under that general title (e.g. Red Mass is not listed with the "r"s, but alphabetically under the Law School).

- Whenever "schol" follows an entry it refers to scholarships which also have a separate entry. The word which follows in parentheses indicates the donor of the scholarship, not the recipient.

Scholarships offered by entities outside of St. Mary's are not included unless a student has received a specific scholarship.

- The Student Government Association appears in every Rattler. There are about 200 articles referring to this group. Most of the entries have to do with some activity of the group. Some of the more important have been singled out for inclusion in the index.

Once you have found one or more issues which contain information you are looking for, the articles themselves may be found on microfilm which is located on the first floor of the Louis J. Blume library, where they can also be printed out, or in printed form in the Special Collections area of the library on the third floor. Some non-bound issues can be photocopied.
